Defense Rests Its Case After Definite Fixing of Date and Accused Prohibition Agent Testifies.

ARGUMENTS ARE BEGUN CHANGE WAS NECESSARY

MANASSAS, Va., September 5 .-After W. C. Hall, prohibition inspector, on trial in connection with the fatal shooting of Lawrence E Hudson and Raymond Shackelford had taken the standin his own behalf this morning, the defense rested its case at noon today.

Hall declared that on March 26, when the shooting occurred, he jumped to the running board of the "booze car" and Shackelford had fired a shot at him. He said that he had been dragged into the car by Hud-con, who hit him on the head with a quart bottle of whisky. Then, he declared, he fired two shots at bracke.ford. As the struggle con-tinued he discharged his gun again, he said and fearing for his life had he said, and, fearing for his life, had shot Hudson twice. He declared that he would not have fired unless Shack-elford had shot first and unless Hudson had grabbed him.

And let every man, woman and child be ashamed to go home unless they are hourse cheering."-Robert N. Harper, chairman citizens' welcome committee.

Definite announcement by the gen eral staff that the grand review of the 1st Division Regulars would be held in Washington at 1 o'clock on Wednesday, September 17, instead of on September 16, as originally planned. will make no difference in local arome regret is expressed that the day chosen is the same as that on which the Odd Fellows expect to hold their parade in Baltimore, where that order will hold its national convention the week of the review.

It is understood that the general staff did not know of the proposed parade in Baltimore until it had arranged for bringing the division to Washington to march on the 17th, but, though it had geen known earlies, it is probable that the work for transporting all of the equipment here would have been too vast to have permitted any change. The reason for advancing the tentative date one day was that the work of entraining, detraining and reassembling the division will require six full days after the review in New York.

Will Outnumber Union Army. As indicative of the size of a modern division, compared with former armies, it was noted by a member of the general staff today that the troops that march with Gen. Pershing up the Avenue in the grand review will out-number Gen. McDowell's Union army at the battle of Bull Run. Not only will there be more men in line, but they will have more rifles, cannon, horses and wagons, not to mention machine guns, motor trucks and tanks, such as Gen. McDowell never dreamed of.

Officers Well Known Here.

A list of division staff and regivision, who will command their several units at the review here, shows a number of officers well known in Washington. The principal officers of the division and their commands are:

Some of this credit has been used to tide his nation over a financial crisis caused by the war, Mr. King says. More of it will be spent for machinery in the expansion of indus-try. But most of it will be expended for education, especially in modern agriculture. Liberia now has an American financial adviser and a few arming experts. Many more agriculture teachers of high qualifications will be sought by the African republic, and it is hoped the United States will supply the need.

Business Chances in Liberia. There is boundless opportunities in Liberia for educated and energetic American colored people; and ex-sol-diers seeking fertile fields for individual development, for the fruition of big ambition, will do well to consider Liberia, the president-elect de-

"But no drones are wanted. The opportunity is not surpassed any-where for those willing to work and study and go into the enterprise with the pioneer spirit, just as the white people of the United States conquered the wilderness of the great west after the end of the civil war," Mr. King explained.

We have now a population of 2,500,000 souls. Forty thousand are civilized. The rest are savage and emi-savage. Of the 40,000, half are natives or descendants of natives of the United States. The remaining 20,000 of civilized persons were sav-ages domesticated and educated, speaking relatively, by the small pro-portion of the total population that ad come from America.
